The assistance rendered by Henry P. Fletcher to Mr. Hoover on his goodwill tour probably will result in the Ambassador to Italy becoming one of the chief advisers to the new President in foreign affairs, particularly in Central and South American relations.

While there has been some talk of Mr. Fletcher for a cabinet position, just what place he will have in the new administration is for the President-elect to decide, and he is keeping his own counsel. However, it is known that he regards the Ambassador as one of the ablest of the diplomatic career men and is highly pleased with his work as and is highly pleased with his work as a member of the good-will mission. ARRIVES ON BERENGARIA SOME OF LOOT RECOVERED

New York, Jan. 3 (N.Y.W.N.S.) .- A called by his friends the most extraordinary man of his age in the field of public finance since Alexander Hamilton, stepped off the Berengaria today with the financial map of Europe in his head and the annual report on reparations in his pocket.

S. Parker Gilbert was as guarded in his speech as a reading-room attendant in the public library, but he intimated that if Germany were displeased and France pleased excessively by his report as agent general of reparations in Europe, then that extensive decument has not been properly digested by the critical and zealots.

"You must reafize," he said, rocking on his heels as interviewers besst him on board the Berengaria, "that this is a good time for me to be silent. Some of the German papers, of course, have a thesis to support. I have no controversy with them, and I can only say that I hardly agree with conclusions they have drawn, as reported in the brited dispatches I have seen."

No Official German Text.

He said there was yet no official German text of his annual report, and doubtless some of the German critical in the propert will reach New York in printed form on the Majestic in a few days. Meantime, he has only the typewritten copies he brought along with him. He insisted his report had given due consideration to the German porrowing, by simply listing the amounts.

Cablegrams report German displeasure because of the alleged optimism with which Gilbert speaks of German ability to pay reparations. Mr. Gilbert declared he had not drawn any conclusions as to Germany's ability to meet future obligations, but had confined himself to a statement of what had been done in the past fiscal year.

Under the reparations plan the German obligations will increase by 30 per cent next year.

Just as Mr. Gilbert believes the German orticiosm due to a failure to keep the "objectivity" of the report clearly in mind, so he believed Parisian elation to be due to a tendency to interpret as recommendations for the future what are in fact mere statement of past happenings. The Brittsh, he also believed, will have little cause for astoniahment when the report is carefully studied

Rugs Sold, but She Paid Storage 20 Years, Charge

Mrs. Rosa E. J. Koch, of 1709 S street northwest, yesterday filed suit for $970.50 against the Pidelity Storage Co., in District Municipal Court, complaining that rags she placed in storage with the company 20 years ago had been sold, although she continued to pay for the storage.

Through her counsel, Godfrey L. Munter, Mrs. Koch declared in June. 1908, she gave the company some valuable rugs and carpets to keep in storage for her. Last March when she went to the company's office to arrange for the return of the rugs, she declared, agents of the company informed her the rugs had been sold several years ago, and she had received bills for their storage regularly through an oversight on the part of the firm's book-reepers.

Girl, Later Slain, Talked to Autoist

Description of Youth Tallies With Man Fired On in Salt Lake City.

Salt Lake City.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Jan. 3 (A.P.) —
Information that June Nelson, asassulted and murdered last Monday night, was seen near her home the same evening, talking to a young man standing near a parked automobile, was disclosed by the sheriff's office today.

The man's description, it was said, tallied with that of a youth who made advances to women of the neighborhood of the girl's home earlier in the evening owner of an apartment house who discovered him peeping into a window.

The information, officers asid, was given them by a playmate of the il2-year-old Nelson girl. A boy in the neighborhood said he saw the car with a man seated in it, but did not see the Nelson girl.

State and county rewards of $1,500 for the slayer of the Nelson girl were increased today when the Carpenters' Union posted a reward of $25 and a life-termer in the Utah State penitentilary offered a similar amount.

Fixed Trainmen's Work Hours.

Fixed Trainmen's Work Hours.

The most significant achievement in the career of William C. Adamson, for two decades a member of the House of Representatives, was the railroad act bearing his name.

Fixing trainmen's basic working days at eight hours, the measure at the time of its enactment averted a threatened strike on the railroads of the country. A transportation tie-up then would have been especially disastrous since it was shortly before the United States entered the World War.

As chairman of the interstate and foreign commerce committee of the House, Judge Adamson had been active in railroad legislation and it was in that capacity that he sponsored the Adamson act. The bill was approved only after expression of bitter feeling by members of both parties, but it was accepted by leaders of the railroad bretherhood as a "satisfactory settlement."

Constitutionality of the act was up-held, 5 to 4, by the Supreme Court, the opinion being by the late Chief Justice White. The decision, regarded the opinion being by the late Chief Justice White. The decision, regarded as an epoch in law relating to railroad transportation, declared both carriers and their employes, engaged in a business charged with public interest, were subject to the right of Congress to arbitrate disputes affecting operation of that business.

First elected to Congress in 1896 from the Fourth Georgia district, Judge Adamson served continuously in the lower house until 1917. He was in his eleventh term when he resigned to accept appointment by President Wilson as a member of the board of United States General Appraisers (Customs Court).

Leader in Fight for Cable.

In 1885 Judge Adamson married Miss Minna Reese, of Carrollton. They had three children. Mrs. Adamson died in December, 1912, and five years later, January 1, 1917, the judge married Ella Zellers Camp. "Grantville, Ga. Richmond, Va., Jan. 3 (A.P.(.—Dr. A. Murat Willis, nationally known surgeon of this city, died late today at the Johnson-Willis Hospital, several hours after he was found in his office at that hospital lying on the floor with a bullet wound through his head and a pistol lying nearby. Associates of the surgeon said that the wound was self-inflicted and that he had been recently subject to a profound depression.

Dr. Willis had just completed an operation and had retired to his private office in the hospital, of which he was part owner, when the shot was heard. He returned recently from a European trip, apparently in vigorous physical condition.

Referred to the Senate judiciary committee, the resolution is in proapect of early consideration there as Senator Morris of Nebraska, chairman of the committee, said he had no objection to immediate discussion of the proposal.

Senator Jones believes the inquiry should be conducted by a committee composed entirely of friends of prohibition so that the investigation would not be carried into channels calculated to lay the liquor laws open to attack.

HOUSE GIVEN ARMY

Measure Asks Big Increases for Food Control, More Officers and Aviation.

IS $435,428,415

Carrying large increases for flood con trol, Army pay, aviation expansion and trol, Army pay, aviation expansion and new construction at military posts, the Army appropriation bill was reported yesterday to the House.

Calling for the expenditure of $435,-428,415 by the War Department during the next fiscal year, the measure was the fifth of the nine regular annual supply bills to come before the House this session, four having been passed before the holidays.

The total, providing $328,338,815 for national defense and $107,089,600 for nonmilitary purposes, represents an increase of $35,111,774 over the current fiscal year appropriation and an increase of $256,808 over budget estimates.

Army Pay Biggest Item.

Army Pay Biggest Item.

The largest military item in the bill is $133,550,368 for pay of the Army. This is an increase of $3,215,995 over this year's pay fund and is recommended to take care of 200 additional second lieutenants, for the Air Corps, advancement of officers to higher pay periods, longevity increases and retired list expansion. The measure contemplates no change in the enlisted strength of the Army, now 118,750, but would raise the officer strength from 11,738 to approximately 12,000.

In the nonmilitary provisions, $50,000,000 is included for maintenance and improvement of more than 500 rivers and harbors works, while $30,000,000, an increase of $20,000,000, is provided for Mississippi flood control. An additional $800,000, previously authorized as an emergency fund, is appropriated for repair or maintenance of flood control works on the Mississipi's tributaries, and $1,000,000 is provided for flood control on the Sacramento River to California. A new item of $4,370,000 is included to be returned to California as a result of a recommendation by the California Debris Commission that the Federal Government share one-third instead of one-sixth of the expense of the Sacramento projects. For operation on Dam No. 2, at Muscle Shoals $270,000 is provided.

$50,000,000 for Rivers.

The projects to be covered by the $50,000,000 rivers and harbors item are the same as those submitted to Congress by the chief of army engineers made public December 3 last.

Other big items in the measure include $24.374,552 for Army subsistence; $14.441,950 for construction at military posts; $5.408,002 for sea coast defenses; $33.578,683 for the Air Corps; $32.319.798 for the National Guard; $5.533,129 for the organized reserves; $5.418,975

798 for the National Guard: $5,533,129 for the organized reserves; $5,418,975 for civilian military training camps; $10,011,000 for the Panama Canal: $8,091,600 for the national home for disabled volunteer soldiers, and $356,378 for national military parks.

The Air Corps appropriation, an increase of $5,730,121 over current funds, would enable the Army to purchase 297 planes next year for the regular branch, organized reserves and National Guard, 22 of which would go to the latter and be paid for out of guard funds. This would bring the five-year construction program up to within 106 construction program up to within planes of the total planned.

Harland, director of call is heard, there is no willing and ready response? Prompt and joyous obedience is the companion of honest desire. It implies confidence in God, without which tittle progress can be made in any direction. Given such confidence with unquestioning and whole-hearted obedience, and success is in a large measure assured.

Christian Science makes this clear at the outset and leads to the spiritual rock, the Christ, Truth. Grounded on this firm foundation, the work may proceed.

Thomas W. Miller, former allen prop erty custodian, convicted of conspi ing to defraud the Government in ading to defraud the Government in administration of alien property seized during the World War, was denied a parole yesterday by Attorney General Sargent. The prisoner who was sentenced to serve 18 months in the Federal Prison at Atlanta was recommended for parole by the Parole Board about a month ago.

Heretofore the Attorney General has disapproved the recommendations of the Parole Board only on rare occasions, and then on the grounds that to grant the parole would be against public policy. Mr. Sargent, however, gave no reason for disapproving the Miller parole.

no reason for disapproving the same parole.

The former allen property custodian, convicted in New York about two years ago started servivng his sentence list April 24. He became eligible for parole last October and was recommended for it early in December. His sentence will expire, with good behavior, on July 7. For good behavior he gets three months off the sentence.

Miller was charged jointly with former attorney general Harry M. Daugherty with conspiring to defraud the Government in administration of property selzed from German companies. Daugherty was acquitted of the charge.

Prisoner Tries to Hang Himself in Police Cell

Stephen Francis O'Donnell, 43 years old, of 214 John Marshall place northwest, a prisoner at the Sixth Precinct Station, attempted to take his own life in his cell yesterday by strangling himself with a handkerchief, according to a report made by the police last night.

O'Donnell was treated by Dr. W. H. Peacock, of Casualty Hospital, and later removed to Gallinger Hospital. His condition is not serious. The man is being held on a technical charge of investigation.

Home Looted as Family Goes Out for Evening

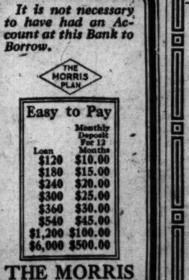

Returning to their home, 4075 Thirteenth street northwest, last night at 9 o'clock after a short absence, Albert Clyde Burton and his family found their home ransacked. A checkup placed the loss at $230.

Detectives who were called found that the burgler had gained entrance by smashing the glass of a front window. A pair of opera glasses and two diamond rings were among the loot.

MacCracken Will Escort the Party to Gravelly Point and Other Locations.

WHITING GIVES HIS VIEWS

Guided by Assistant Secretary of merce MacCracken, the three memrs of the airport subcommittee of the nake a trip of inspection to Gravelly Point and other sites suggested for a municipal airport for the District.

Senator Vandenberg (Republican), of lichigan, chairman of the subcommit ee, made an announcement to this eftter from MacCracken in which the atter gave his views with regard to Gravelly Point.

Cravelly Point.

Vandenberg asked MacCracken three questions: Does Washington need a municipal airport in addition to the accommodations which it has at Bolling Field? Is Gravelly Point the best available site from the information at the disposal of the Department of Commerce? Do the terms of Senator Capper's bill cover the situation adequately and meet with your approval?

Assistant Secretary MacCracken anawered all three questions with an emphatic "yes," and added a suggestion that more money should be provided in the future for the development of Gravelly Point.

The Capper-Stalker bill authorizes $1,500,000 for the transformation of Gravelly Point from a shoals into a beautiful airport. This is all right, MacCracken said, but eventually $3,000,000 should be spent to extend the airport down the river.

Secretary of Commerce Whiting yesterday added his voice to those of Federal officials who are clamoring for a municipal airport for Washington. Said he:

Boiling Field, Davison said, is very near the level of the river, and, as a result, the officers and men have very poor living conditions. The site at Giesboro Point, he said, is considerably higher. Rose Standish, wife of John A. Standish of the Pyorrhea Laboratories, when her automobile crashed through the Caivert Street Bridge railing on February 11, 1926. Miss Collins, a passenger in the car, survived serious injuries and instituted suit against the District and the Capital Traction Co., charging negligence through failure to keep the bridge clear of anow. The automobile plunged 40 feet.

Mr. Dougherty was called as a witness for Miss Collins. He testified that he was appointed to membership of a special committee of th Washington Board of Trade shortly after the tragedy. The duties of the committee, he said, were to inspect local bridges and report on their safety.

Commissioner Dougherty declared, and he nad other members of the committee found the railings of the bridge rusted and dilapidated. A slight shake by hand, he said, caused the entire railing to sway. Mr Dougherty was not a local executive at the time.

When he had finished testifying, Justice William Hitz, presiding at the trial, remarked:

FOR NATIONAL SAFETY.

Senator Hale laid before the country yesterday the state of the Navy and the argument in behalf of the cruiser bill. He pointed out that other powers are proceeding with naval construction according to their defensive needs, without regard to their approval of the Kellogg treaty. Those powers perceive clearly that the Kellogg treaty relieves no nation of the necessity of self-defense, and while peace prevails they are taking advantage of the opportunity to keep their navies up to date.

The proposed addition of fifteen cruisers would still leave the United States with 92,000 tons less than the cruiser tonnage of Great Britain, assuming that Britain will not build more than hose already authorized. The total tonnage proposed for the United States is such less than the tonnage contemplated by the treaty ratios. If any nation is iolating the spirit of the Washington reaty limiting naval armaments it is not the United States. The building program ending in the Senate must be adopted if the United States is to have a fleet comaratively modern and effective for naonal defense. It is not a competitive rogram, but is essentially a program of udent defensive equipment.

The opponents of the cruiser bill, who sist that it is a war measure, should isk themselves if the proposed cruisers uld be sufficient in case the United tates should become involved in war. They can not honestly hold that the uisers would make the United States epared for a war on the scale of the cent war. If the cruisers are not fficient for war needs they are certainfor defense only.

The cruiser bill furnishes a test of the ill of Congress in the matter of reasonble national defense. If this program is ccessive, then there can be no defensive program, and the Navy might as well be crapped. If the Navy is to be mainained at all it should be kept modern and airly effective. With Great Britain and lapan already possessing a great preconderance of 10,000-ton cruisers, with rance voting on December 6 to increase ts navy, and with Italy providing for wo 10,000-ton cruisers, besides destroyers and submarines, the American proram is anything but "provocative" or competitive."

When the Senate votes on these cruisers, let it vote to build them, not nerely to authorize them. The suggesion that this construction should be nerely authorized, thereby transforming ctual vessels into blue-print projects, makes a mockery of national defense.

American taxpayers get little enough or the money they contribute to the reasury. Most of it is wasted in useless mmissions and salaries. Some of it ould be used for the national safety. o that the whole world shall know that he United States is determined to mainain its rights and is reasonably prepared o defend them. There will be less nger of aggression by foreign belrents if a few modern American war sels are on hand to protect the flag.

LAWYERS AND TAX EXPERTS.

The big list of tax refunds recently pubed, running into millions of dollars, oubtiess caused many citizens to believe that sele Sam had voluntarily made prompt and ous amends for his errors in collecting taxes. But another picture is presented one of the concerns that appeared in the

So it is out of hat amount, all because of the illegal s of the Treasury. "I have always erves Mr. Johnson, "that if the ment had to pay in addition to the trol the price of gasoline, clarifies the legal money due, with interest, the cost of legal service, they would be more careful about assessing and collecting illegal taxes." Practically all of the corporations that paid illegal taxes were forced to hire lawyers and tax experts to recover the money. If the cost of this service was 35 per cent of the amount recovered, as in the case of the Endicott-Johnson Co., it is evident that the errors of the Treasury Department cost taxpayers at east $35,000,000 during the last fiscal year. Uncle Sam may be a little hard on taxpayers, but see what a Santa Claus he is to lawyers and tax experts!

MR. GILBERT'S BOOMERANG.

The rosy report of German economic conditions, made by S. Parker Gilbert, agent general for reparations, is having the effect of several boomerangs. German public opinion is furious, charging that Mr. Gilbert is deliberately exaggerating German prosperity so that the allies can fasten upon her enormous reparation claims. French public opinion is delighted with the assurance that Germany can pay reparations at the present rate of $600,-000,000 a year. Therefore France is expected to make very stiff demands upon Germany as the price of consenting to a scheme for "commercializing" the reparation debt. British opinion is confused, part of it rejoicing in the prospect of obtaining heavy payments indefinitely from Germany, and the other part looking dubiously upon the prospect of a scaling down of Britain's debt to the United States. Apparently Mr. Gilbert's report was designed partly to convince prospective American investors in German bonds that Germany is solvent and prosperous. But if this was the object, Mr. Gilbert may have overplayed his hand by encouraging the allied powers to increase their demands upon Germany, and correspondingly discouraging the movement in Germany to commercialize the reparation account. The Germans are anxious to get the allies out of the Rhineland, but the military occupation is no longer looked upon as a menace, and the recent outbursts of President Hindenburg and Chancellor Mueller were not taken seriously. Germany can afford to drive a hard bargain in the forthcoming meeting of the experts, because of the saving clause in the Dawes agreement which provides that Germany's "capacity to pay" shall always be taken into account. If Mr. Gilbert is mistaken in his report of German capacity to pay, Germany may be better off under the present arrangement than under a commercialization agreement.

Mr. Gilbert now comes to the United States, to find the conditions unpropitious for floating a big German loan. German bonds already held by Americans are sagging, and investors have not failed to note Mr. Gilbert's statement that the German states are extravagant and are drawing too heavily upon the resources of the reich. It is noted also that German authorities are laying stress upon the disordered condition of the railroads, which will hardly prove to be an incentive to heavy American investment in German railroad bonds. Americans are making too much money in the home market, in any event, to bother with foreign investments at this time,

Thus, with growing disagreement abroad as to Germany's economic condition, and with Americans immersed in profitable operations at home, the carefully prepared scheme to "liquidate the war" at American expense does not seem so promising as it did a few weeks ago, when Messrs. Briand, Churchill, Stresemann and Gilbert agreed with international bankers that the time was nearly ripe for making another ingenious attack upon the American pocketbook.

FRANCE'S GREAT INDUSTRIAL PLAN.

With their eyes focused upon the United States for inspiration, Premier Poincare and Andre Tardieu, minister of the interior, have worked out a scheme for the revitalization of French industry. Briefly, they contemplate the cutting of red tape with which French industry is traditionally bound, the rebuilding of public utilities, especially the ports through which France's foreign trade passes, the construction of roads, development of all potential hydroelectric power and electrification enterprises, a long series of constructive works, including the building of a trans-Saharan railroad, and the modernization of Paris. The program will be put before parliament next week. It is offered as an alternative to the socalled socializing reforms that have found many supporters in France, and upon it Premier Poincare will ask for a vote of con-

The "program of realization," as it will be called, is calculated to make France a modern, industrialized nation, placing it on a par with all other nations in the international struggle for wealth. It is based in a desire for greater prosperity, a slogan borrowed directly from the United States. The plan includes the creation of a national economic council which, cooperating closely with parliament and the government, would propose changes in the industrial and political structure of France.

The United States would have reason to be pleased should France adopt American economic methods. The creation of a prosperous, industrialized state, however, depends upon more than governmental action. It depends, in the final analysis, almost entirely upon individual activity. The government, of course, can help. The government can cut away red tape that hinders progress and makes individual effort difficult. It can assist in the development of natural resources and provide facilities valuable to all industry. If the people, however, fail to exhibit initiative, if they are willing to plod along with the methods their fathers used, governmental action can have no effect. The Poincare-Tardieu plan deserves to succeed. It represents an intelligent and courageous attempt to guide French industry and the French people toward better times.

STATE CAN NOT FIX PRICES.

The decision of the Supreme Court that a State has no right to fix the price of a commodity of trade upholds a principle well established in this country. It has been clearly ndicated many times that the people as a whole do not want the Government engaging in business, nor do they wish to trust a governmental unit with the power of fixing prices. The decision of the Supreme Court invalidating the statute passed by Tennessee in 1927, which gave State authorities the right to conphase of the question and tends to establish the rights of private business more firmly.

Attorneys for Tennessee contended that since gasoline is in general use in the State and since it is indispensable in carrying on commerce and other activities, price regulation is necessary in the public interest. The district court denied the right of the State to authorize its agents to fix prices, and the Supreme Court upheld this view. Price fixing was held to be a violation of the Federal Constitution in that it deprives vendors of their property without due process of the law. The fourteenth amendment to the Constitution provides: "Nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty or property, without due process of law."

The court found that the Tennessee law was not justified on the ground that sale of gasoline in that State is monopolized by the Standard Oil Co. of Louisiana and the Texas Co. The opinion said the court was not concerned with the character of the business. Gasoline was held to be a commodity of trade. differing in no essential respect from a great variety of other articles bought and sold in everyday business.

The decision is consistent and wise, It should serve as a check on the activities of a large group of people who are constantly seeking to regulate economic conditions by giving governmental units the power to fix prices.

MORE CARS, FEWER ACCIDENTS.

The report of the Traffic Department for the twelve months ended December 31 is most encouraging. In 1923 8,491 accidents and 91 fatalities resulted from automobile accidents in the District of Columbia. In 1924 there were 9,131 accidents and 91 fatalities, and in 1925 there were 9,331 and 84 injuries and fatalities, respectively. In 1926, the first full year of Traffic Department operation, there were 6,485 injuries and 76 deaths. In 1927. although the number of vehicles registered had increased, there were but 4,947 injuries and 84 deaths, and last year the number of injuries decreased to 2,618, while the number of fatalities was but 83. During December there were no traffic fatalities. In the meantime there has been an increase of 16 per cent in registered automobiles.

The Traffic Department is doing a good job, and is entitled to a large share of the credit for improved conditions. The public, which has willingly cooperated in the traffic reforms put into effect, is also to be commended. The Police Department and the courts, which have worked hand in hand with officials of the Traffic Department, may read in the reduced accident figures the tangible result of their interest and activity.

More than all else, the automatic traffic control system is to be credited with saving lives. Prior to the installation of traffic lights in Sixteenth street accidents were common on that heavily traveled thoroughfare. Since the lights were installed early in 1926 there have been comparatively few accidents and only one fatality. As the system is extended, there is reason to believe that the accident and injury statistics will be reduced accord-

NIAGARA FALLS.

An agreement to improve the scenic beauty of Niagara Falls and possibly to allow a greater diversion of water for power purposes has been signed by the Canadian prime minister and the American Minister to Canada. The compact is the result of extensive study of the falls by a board of American and Canadian experts appointed in 1926. If the agreement is ratified by the two governments, it will mean expenditure of nearly beautification of the falls.

Water not to exceed 20,000 cubic feet per second would be temporarily diverted to determine the feasibility of the proposed remedial works. If a decision is reached to go ahead with the plans, submerged weirs will be constructed diagonally across the river, and excavations will be made to distribute the water better in its descent over the crest. At present too much water is flowing over the center of the falls and too little at the edges near the shore. More even distribution would improve the blended green and white color effect, especially at the Horseshoe Falls, and resultant diminution of the spray would make the graceful tumbling of the water more visible.

The board of experts found that the falls are in no danger of "committing suicide" through erosion, but that a program of rehabilitation is necessary to restore their beauty. The recession of the crest line up stream, the decreased flow from the Great Lakes in recent years and the withdrawal of water for navigation, sanitary and power purposes have detracted from the beauty of the falls. It is encouraging to find that a scientific effort is being made to improve and preserve this most famous scenic spot in America.

A new public opinion is being molded into fixed policy which will forever prohibit destruction of natural beauty spots in America for commercial reasons. Niagara is a great power site, but it is a greater scenic resort. and every precaution should be taken for its protection. The remedial works will be so constructed that the effect of any additional water diversion will be masked. If additional water can be diverted for power purposes and the beauty of the falls enhanced at the same time, the works will be doubly beneficial. But the Government should never relinquish any right it has to control the flow over the falls, and the work now under contemplation should be carefully supervised.

Another Record for Sustained Flight.

R OY RIEGELS, center on the California Football Team, who scooped up a loose ball and ran 70 yards in the wrong direction, deserves praise instead of ridicule. Football has suffered from a lack of originality more than any other game, and no player who strives to add a touch of novelty should be criticized.

"Give us more players like Roy Riegels!" was the cry of football spectators everywhere today. "Anything that will open up the game and make it more exciting and interesting from the viewpoint of the average fan should be encouraged."

Opinion among people who have had to watch Eastern football is that it would always be a rare treat to see a football player get away and phone is the only instrument that sounds as well while you are learning run 70 yards, no matter in what direction.

"Take the Yale Team of last season," said Elmer Twitchell yesterday. had run even half that distance toward any goal line or even toward the has been thrown into rebellion by King exits. What Eastern football needs is men like this Roy Riegels who are not bound down by precedent or inhibitions-men who will dare to Those Afghans must have something to

> For years, Mr. Twitchell pointed out, football players have been slaves to conventions. They have been running in one direction, toward the opposition goal. That has been considered the natural, the logical thing to do, despite the fact that it has resulted in some very dull, drab and uninteresting football.

"Spectators don't care where a player runs with a ball so long as he Detroit Free Press: The use of tear runs," said Mr. Twitchell. "They want action. Most of them don't gas by banks and trust companies to know which team is which or what it's all about anyhow. By the time a game is 10 minutes old there have been so many penalties and baffling rulings that the average man is in a terrible muddle and is glad to see any player run 70 yards, no matter who, how or where." Cleveland Plain Deale :: A "Stay

Mr. Twitchell joins with many fans in believing that so far as Eastern football, at least, is concerned, it can only continue to hold public interest by letting players run in any direction they choose, a touchdown to be counted whenever a player crosses any goal line on the field.

In the meantime critics who assume that the California boy was not deliberately blazing a new trail are continuing to speculate over what caused him to run the wrong way. The following suggestions are made matter how tough or blunt, he never by Dablyn Crymes, the great detective: has himself photographed with chin or

The confusion possible from having two unrelated Jefferson streets in the northwest section of the District was brought to public notice Wednesday night when an Emergency Hospital ambulance vainly sought Mrs. Mary Tavenner, who resides at 1061 Jefferson street, Georgetown, in the 1000 block of the newer Jefferson street northwest. Mrs. Tavenner finally was taken to Georgetown Hospital in the patrol of the Seventh Police Precinct, Whether there will be any move to ouncil has been summoned to meet next Tuesday.

Until today, his doctors hesitated to tell the general, who has been recuper-ating from a nervous breakdown at Southwold, Sussex, of the forthcoming meeting for fear that the inference he would draw on learning of it might result in a relapse. But improvement in his condition and the fear that news of the meeting might reach him in some roundabout way decided them to permit Mrs. Booth and his daughter, Commissioner Catherine Booth, to in-"I've Done My Best," He Says. "I've Done My Best," He Says.

The veteran world head of the Salvation Army apparently realized the grave import which the news held for him, for he received it with the exclamation:

"I've leved the army, and I've done my best for our people!"

Then, after putting some questions to his wife and daughter and a few moments of reflection, he added:

patrol of the Seventh Pelice Precinct. Whether there will be any move to eliminate one of the Jefferson streets and call it something else apparently will continue to depend on the desires of the residents of Jefferson street in Georgetown, District officials indicated yesterday.

Jefferson street in Georgetown runs from K to M street, between Thirtieth, and Thirty-first streets, and the oldest maps in the office of Melvin C. Hasen, District surveyor, show the street so designated before Georgetown was, as today, a part of Washington, The street always has been designated as such and its designation as Jefferson avenue in directories and guide books is erroneous, Hazen said.

Report of the existence of a family feud, which resulted from the fact that Commander Evangeline Booth and her niece, Commission'r Catherine, did not meet when Commander Evangeline finite called at the Army's international head-quarters here, although both were in the building at he same time, appeared somewhat modified tonight after they had talked together for some time today.

This meeting took place after miscarriage of arrangements which had been made for a meeting between them at Army headquarters yesterday.

The conference between the two women lasted several hours. It was intimated after the meeting that Commander Evangeline did not learn during the talk that her brother had been motified of the meeting of the high council and that she was not told when she could see her brother.

It is generally believed here that, should the high council decide that Gen. Booth is unfit to continue as commander-in-chief, both Commander Evangeline and Commissioner Catherine are potential candidates for world leadership of the Army.

London, Jan. 3 (A.P.).—The Lord Chancellor, Lord Hallsham, married, at Westminster Abbey, the Honorable Mrs. Clive Lawrence today.

The greatest secrecy was taken to insure privacy at the ceremony which took place in the famous poet's corner of the Henry VIII Chapel. Only a few privileged friends carrying specially printed permits were allowed to pass the policeman at the door. The House yesterday refused to re-pass a measure to grant the franking privilege to Latin-American diplomatic representatives stationed in this country.

A House bill to give that privilege was passed several weeks ago and a similar bill was passed by the Senate. When the Senate measure was brought up in the House yesterday, however, it drew criticism from several members because its language covered the private mail of members of the Diplomatic Corps as well as oficial documents. impaired by the treaty. The right of self-defense is inherent in every treaty and each nation must determine for itself when the right of self-defense is self when the right of self-defense is involved.

He "frankly" conceded that this was the "weakness" of the pact "but it is the weakness which inheres in human nature." And this weakness can not be removed, he declared, until a supergovernment is established to determine when things are right or wrong.

"No nation will ever surrender." he declared, "and in my judgment will never surrender the right of self-defense."

Referring to the correspondence that had been exchanged on the note, particularly the much discussed Chamberlain note, he declared it all meant nothing because none of it "assumed anything in the treaty which is not conceded."

"None of this correspondence results."

"None of this correspondence results in any modification of the terms of the treaty itself," he declared.

Treaty Refutes Sanctions.

As to sanctions the language of the treaty itself refutes them, he declared. "The philosophy of the treaty is not that of preventing war but that of organizing peace which is a wholly different thing. Under no circumstances is force recognized." Bather, he pointed out, the instrument condemns war. One of Reed's parries left the Idahoan rather stern of features and with a cold observation that "Perhaps I do not understand the senator." It looks as if the spectacle of a century of their crossing fire is coming.

As to the Monroe Doctrine's security under the treaty. Borah declared that it had never rested on anything more than this Government's contention that as a measure of self-defense we would insist upon its being lived up to. Senator Hale gave an hour and a half's exposition of the naval bill and the need for it before the treaty fight opened up. Senator Reed tormented him with questions as to whether he had voluntarily agreed to let the treaty come up first. He said the agreement called only for Borah's calling up the treaty after he had concluded his speech, "The present situation of the Navy treaty after he had concluded his speech,

"The present situation of the Navy is not in any way changed by the passage of the treaty," Hale declared.
" " The policy of our country has always been to maintain a navy for defensive purposes. " It must always be remembered, however, that a defensive navy, after war is declared, must as soon as possible take the offensive and destroy the navy and the commerce of the country with which it is at war."

Colombian Flier Falls 75 Miles From Goal

Girardot, Colombia, Jan. 2 (A.P., deayed.).—The dream of Lieut. Benjamir Mendez, American-trained chief pilot of the Colombian Air Service, of flying from New York to Bogota, ended here

Lieut. Mendez, who took off from Mitchel Pield November 23 on his 4,600-mile flight, left Girardot late this afternoon, but a few minutes later met with disaster when the plane crashed into a tree and was destroyed. The forced landing was said to have been due to a poor grade of fuel preventing his motor from functioning properly. The flier was too close to the earth to maneuver the plane to a safe landing. Lieut. Mcndez was not injured, and later took off for Bogota in an Army plane sent to his aid. Lieut. Mendez, who took off from

Few Days Left for Readers Of Post to Begin "Saving"

Christmas Club Accounts Available Only Until Jan. 15; Subscribers May Prepare for Next Holiday Season Without Expense to Themselves.

Few days remain in which readers of The Washington Post may take advan-tage of a thrift offer which will enable them to have a good "cash" Christmas in 1929.

Christmas Saving Clubs in banks of the District of Columbia and vicinity will be closed after January 15 and those who have not opened accounts will be out of luck.

will be out of luck.

Banks report more interest in these Christmas Savings Clubs than ever before with indications pointing to a record total. Eighty thousand Washingtonians enjoyed the benefits of checks from such accounts in 1928 and many more are expected to have money coming to them next December 1.

The Washington Post wants everyone in the District and nearby territory to have the advantage of a Christmas Savings Club when next December 1 rolls around, so that all may enjoy the spirit of Christmas.

To help readers open Christmas Club accounts and then maintain the weekly payments, The Post is offering dollars to its readers. For each three-

Che STORY OF THE GEMS The Ruby

DAILY LEGAL RECORD

BOUT ninety miles Northeast of the Mandalay, made famous by Rudyard Kipling, lies the Mogak mine which for centuries was the principal source of rubies. This beautiful stone, which today is among the most valuable, has been prized by Orientals for centuries, whose knowledge and cunning were adeptly used to ferret out the especially priceless

The trained eye of the Orientals, however, was no more adept than that of the present day experts who can easily distinguish between the genuine stone and the synthetic ones manufactured from aluminum oxide colored with iron rust. Though both have the same chemical composition, there are great differences in the striations or "grain."

it you wish to invest in speculative issues, consult an expert. If you wish to be sure of what your investment will bring you during the years to come, put your money in these First stones of "pigeon's blood" hue

Sometimes it takes an expert to see the difference between speculative investments and those of sound value. However, most investors play safe with the First Mortgage Notes issued by Swartzell, Rheem & Hensey Co., for it does not take an expert to tell that these are safe, profitable and convenient.

activity is Centered Largely in Foreign List; Coppers Move Upward.

FEW OILS ARE STRONG

New York, Jan. 3 (A.P.).—Easing conditions served to stimulate bond market only moderately toav. buying activity being centered on e foreign list, and a few utilities and o in the railroad group, but price nges here were small and rather ular. Total sales were $11,996,000, rease, but the market displayed customary Thursday nervousness

Coppers advanced in sympathy with the rise in copper stocks, Anaconda 7s reaching a new peak at 195. Abraham is Straus 5s touched a new peak at 195%, but yielded to selling pressure, licking off 2 points net on the day. International Cement 5s also invaded new nigh ground, dosling at their best price.

12, up 2½ points.

A few oils were acquired at better rices notably Barnsdall 6s and Pantinerican Petroleum 6s, but others were inclined to heaviness. Cuba Cane hugar 7s, Western Electric 5s, Goodear 5s, Certainteed 5½s, Kayser & Co. ½s and Remington Rand 5½s were ther issues to close lower. International Telephone convertible 4½s were equired in large volume and closed a point net higher, while Public Service of New Jersey 4½s soared nearly 10 coints to a new top at 190%.

Among the stronger rails were Cuba forthern Railways 5½s, International reat Northern 6s, New York Central a, Wabash 5½s, Frisco 4½s and 4s A, loston & Maine 5s and Denver & Rio rande Western 5s.

Gains of a point or more were nuserous in the foreign list, which aparently attracted investment buying atin-American issues and Italian and erman industrials showed substantial sins. United States Government issues were inclined to heaviness.

But Connie's joy in his discovery was short lived. He soon discovered that young Mr. Dugan seemed constitutionally unable to stay put. On the slightest provocation, or none whatever, he would pack up his things and go home to mother, without even bidding his boss good-by. Even the traditionally patient Mr. Mack finally tired of this and shipped the restless grasshopper to the Boston Red Sox, where it was believed that proximity to Holy Cross would cure him of the homesickness, or whatever it was, that had earned him the sobriquet of "Jumping Joe." was short lived. Here in New York the ever-alluring rospect of a cut in world's series swag ept him anchored to third base, and t was not until the Yankees decided to turn him loose a few weeks ago that Dugan reverted to type. The Yanks, in view of his eight years of splendid service, were willing to give him his unconditional release. But in accordance with baseball law and practice, any of the other fifteen major league clubs had the right to claim him for the waiver price, $7,500, and the Boston Braves exercised it.

With the opening of the Prep School League only a fortnight away, teams in the prep school group are now making ready for their appearances. The Gonzaga Five especially is giving much thought to its debut, which is scheduled on January 16 against St. John's, with practice for the first time since the holiday period on tap next Monday in the Gonzaga gymnasium. The I Streeters' game with St. John's, which will officially open the prep school circuit on January 16 at the Boys Club, will actually mark its second contest of the current season, a loss to Eastern last month being its only other engagement. "Wham!" perspiration streamed down his flushed face as he lunged after a low one.
"Think I'm getting too old, hey? Or too fat and slow? Watch that one."

Babe Ruth started off the New Year today with his first workout in prepara-tion for the 1929 baseball campaign.

It is the earliest he has begun any systematic training since 1926, when he made the big comeback. But to even the most casual ob-server who watched the big Yankee slugger go through an hour's work under the direction of his physical adviser, Artie McGovern, it was apparent that Ruth is already close to

He tipped the scales at exactly 2341/ pounds. That is some 15 pounds from his best playing weight, but low enough to testify that his rounds of golf and hunting in the past few weeks had helped keep him in condi-tion. The famous waist-line, which has been a matter of National concern on several occasions, is ample but no unusual for the Babe. Between victous swipes at the hand ball and growls at the trainer massaging his girth, Ruth grew a bit indig-

"Did you see that piece in the paper about me fattening up to 250 pounds being about through and that this be my last year. That's ho stuff. And a fine lot of bunk.

I'm not getting any younger but I will only be 35 next Monday and I've got a lot of baseball left." was recalled to the Babe that three years ago when he actually scaled around 250 and seemed near the end of his career before staging a come-back he predicted he would still be in the leagues at 40.

"That gives me five more years hey!
Well, I guess I'm still good for it."

The real secret of Ruth's ability

The real secret of Ruth's ability to retain good condition, in spite of a tendency to take on extra weight quickly, is that he "shows good sense now in the way he lives." At least that is the opinion of Artie McGovern, who has kept a watchful eye on the Babe's waist-line for four years.

now than he ever did," said Artie. "He doesn't fill himself up on pie and coffee any more. He exercises the year around and is careful about his diet. He has done it so long now he likes it. He's a physical marvel and I don't see any reason why he shouldn't be good for five years more."

Ruth doesn't think much of the tenman team proposal under which an extra man would be said and the said an

Ruth doesn't think much of the tenman team proposal under which an extra man would bat for the pitcher, although it has been suggested that such an innovation would give the Babe almost a life-time job in the majors.

"That would take a real scientific feature away from the game, I think, and spoil a lot of strategy," said Ruth.
"It would make'it too tough for the opposing pitcher. He's entitled to at least one break in the line-up, but with a regular hitter in there, he would hever get a soft apot."

Golden mastered the tricky and rolling ocean bordering course with iron nerved shooting. On his morning round he used up seven strokes to hole out on the par four tenth hole, but on the succeeding eight holes he played under par golf to turn in a 73.

Games to Be Played if

THE fate of the opening of the high school basket ball series for the championship of the District will not be known definitely until noon today. Originally scheduled to start this afternoon at the Tech High School gymnasium, the series twice has been postponed, but a meeting of the school officials hastily called yesterday resulted in a final effort to start the games today. The final decision, to be made at noon, hinges on the installa-tion of sufficient temporary seats now

Lewis Will Outweigh Sonnenberg 35 Pounds

Boston, Mass., Jan. 3 (A.P.).—Strangler Lewis is expected to have a 35-pound weight advantage on his challenger, "Dynamite" Gus Sonnenberg, when they enter the Boston Garden ring tomorrow night to wrestle again for the former's heavyweight title.

Lewis weighed 235 pounds today and Sonnenberg was just under 200. Gus, however, expected to pile on a few pounds before going into action. She offered, however, two alternative plans for the consideration of the organization—one for definite opposition to the participation of women in the 1932 games and the other for a request that the women's division of the N. A. A. F. be allowed to take part in the planning and running of the games.

M. G. SAYS HE WAS To Clash January 30 WARNED Told by Phone Councilmen Wanted Bribe, He Testifies.

BRAVES' HEAD

BOSTON, Jan. 3 (A.P.)—Charies F. Adams, vice president of the Boston National League Baseball Club, told the finance commission today that before the Sunday professional sports bill came before the city council for action he had received a telephone warning from an anonymous person.

The warning was that "certain members of the council were trying to get $5,000 each and if they didn't get it would delay until the bill had cobwebs on it."

on it."

Adams, who is also president of the Boston Bruina Hockey Club, was the second witness called by the finance commission in its investigation of his charges that a member of the cty council sought a bribe for obtaining passage of the order to permit Sunday professional sports, thereby making it possible for the Boston Braves and Red Sox to play games in this city seven days a week.

President Emil Fuchs, of the Braves, the first witness, had told the commission that Councilman William G. Lynch informed him that a "bloc" of thirteen of the councilmen could prevent passage of the order and "believe that we ought to get something out of it" if they passed the order.

Fuchs quoted Lynch as saying it had een suggested that the members of the "bloc" ought to receive $5,000 each, Adams said that while he could not Adams said that while he could not identify the person who called him by telephone and advised him that certain members of the council were planning to block the Sunday sports measure unless they received $5,000 each, he thought the voice sounded like that of Councilman Robert G. Wilson.

As soon as the conversation ended, Adams testified, he attempted to reach Wilson by telephone so that he might compare his voice with that of the mysterious caller, but every time he had called he had been told that Wilson was out or unable to answer.

The Braves' vice president also testified that Myles MacSweeney, a Boston sports writer, had fold him that he had evidence that "would hang at least two of the councilmen," and that "acsweeney had two witnesses to testify that these councilmen "were going to hold up the bill until the Braves puid tribute."

Adams said that MacSweeney and Fuchs had a disagreement because Mac-Sweeney felt that he should publish the story, while Fuchs and Adams wanted publication held up until they were satisfied that the charges were justi-fied.

Chicago Group Purchases Arlington Park Track

Chicago, Jan. 3 (A.P.).—Arlington Park, Chicago's largest and most fashionable racing plant, today was taken over by a group of Chicago industrial, commarcial and civic leaders through subscription of $2,500,000.

In purchasing the track from the American National Jockey Club, the new owners announced it would be conducted strictly as a civic enterprise. Sale of 250 memberships at $10,000 will be made to an exclusive number; of civic leaders. Each membership will carry $10,000 in preferred stock. This stock will be retired out of the profits and the large tract of 1,000 acres and buildings will then belong "in spirit to the Chicago turf loving community," the announcement stated.

As any baseball follower knows, the waiver rule is much more elastic than it looks. The Cards had no trouble getting Film Rhem waived out of the majors, although the Reds were said to be willing to give $30,000 and two players for him. Nobody claimed Vic Aldridge, of the Glants, for $7,500, although a dozen other clubs probably would pay more than that for another pitcher his equal. The baseball rule book would make a lot more interesting reading if all the private understandings, "gentlemen's agreements" and logrolling processes were contained therein.

Elsie Fischer's 334 Leads Women in Star Tournament

Lena Levy Gains Second Place With 323 Set and Rolls New High Game of 131: Doyle's 602 Best for Men.

FAIR bowlers supplied the fireworks in the star tournament at the Lucky Strike alleys last night. So effective were the scores that the competition of the rolling found only two survivors of previous nights in the first ten.

survivors of previous nights in the first ten.

Elsie Fischer was the big star. Miss Fischer contributed the new high set of 334, inserting a high game of 121. Helena Kohler, leader before tonight's rolling started, dropped to fifth place with her mark of 312. Lena Levy rolled into second position with 323 and also supplied the high game for ladies since the tournament started—one of 181.

Fiorence Rembold gained third position with a set of 322, while Helen Clair Sullivan went into fourth place with 316. Others in the first ten are: Lorraine Guili, sixth, 311; Marjorie Bradt, seventh, 308; Bronson Quaites, eighth, 306; Mary Gerrant, ninth, 304, and Melvina Jubb, Mildred McGee and Virginia Yarnell tied for tenth with 308.

given the opportunity to shoot at the marks.

The best score rolled in the men's class sent J. F. Doyle into the first twenty, or the prize list. Doyle had a set of 602. Another good score of 580 was rolled by Louis Pantos.

With two more nights to go, the men's marks will be in jeopardy. Many of the District League men have not rolled yet including Howard Campbell, all-event champion in the National tournament last year. He will roll Saturday night, as will the members of the crack King Pin team.

"Pagliacci" Offered on Air Tonight

WMAL Will Broadcast United Opera Company at 10-Creole Songs at 7 Over WRC-Marine Band Concert 4 P. M.

Station WMAL will offer several Coumbia Broadcasting System features uring the evening, the last of which will be "Pagliacci," sung by the United Opera Company at 10 o'clock. "Pagliacci," a dramatic opera in two icts by Leoncavallo, was first performed in Milan on May 21, 1892. It was one of the operas submitted in the prize contest won by Mascagni's "Cavalleria tusticana," but was disqualified beause it was written in two acts, inatead of one. Its success, however, was immediate, and was well-deserved by Leoncavallo, who had had much hard luck up to then in obtaining productions for his works.

The custom of presenting two similar umbers, one old and one new, will be numbers, one old and one new, will be continued in the Then and Now offering at 8:30 o'clock from WMAL. Such songs as "Over There" and "Memories of France." "Come Take a Trip in My Airship" and "Like a Bird That's On the Wing." "There's a Girl in the Heart of Maryland" and "Stay Out of the South" will be presented in that fashion

The Harmonious Quartet will be pre-sented from the studios of Station WMAL at 7:30 o'clock.

WMAL at 7:30 o'clock.

An old Creole folk song, set to a traditional melody, will be sung by the Happy Wonder Bakers Trio during the program to be broadcast through WRC at 7 o'clock this evening. Other vocal selections will include the popular songs, "Easy Goin," and "Blue Grass," by the trio, and a special duo arrangement of the comedy hit, "What Good Is a Sandwick, Without Any Bread," sung by Jack Pyrker and Will Donaldson. An arrangement of "Roses for Remembance" will be played by the Wonder Bakers Orchestra.

The Cities Service program at 8 o'clock tonight follows: "Cities Service March" (Bourdon); "Dense Bretonne" (Widor): "The Witching Hour" (Pell'), Cavallers; selections from "Natoma" (Herbert), Cavallers; "My Love to You" (Fletcher); "Wood Nymphs" (Coates); "The Nightingale," a flute solo; "Three Irish Dances" (Ansell); "Melody of Love" and "Danse Bagatelle" (Bourdon), and "To a Wild Rose," orchestra under the direction

YOUR BOY AND YOUR GIRL

By ARTHUR DEAN, SC. D. The Parent Counselor.

The Mother Instinct. W HY do mothers think their children are never wrong." asks a reader who is writing on this subject for the P.-T. A. Dear lady, if you could see the letters Dear lady, if you could see the letters
I receive from young people you might feel, as I sometimes do, that parents think their children are never right.
This sword is two-edged.
If I may crudely paraphrase Stephen Decatur's immortal remark about his country, then the mother's natural feeling is:

May my chidren always be right,
But right or wrong

May my chidren always be right,
But, right or wrong
My children.
We see this parental response almost invariably exhibited when any issue—community, school or neighborhood—involves children.
This isn't what the high-brows would call a "rationalized"—a reasoned out—response. Rather it is a reaction based on the protective instinct ingrained in mankind from the beginning of time—and essential in earlier days to preserve the very life of the young. Mankind is slow to surrender inherited instincts or reactions.

stincts or reactions.

We regard our children as our very own, and as such we reserve the right to criticize or punish them ourselves, but let some outsider assume this prerogative and it takes a cool, collected parent to meet the issue properly. But even so we are making progress. The modern mother may not admit to the world that her child was wrong in some stincts or reactions.

Gala Night To Be Given By WBBM

Chicago Station, Finest in Middle West, to Offer 2 Hours of Radio Entertainment for First Time in New Studio.

Still another gala night is ahead for listeners with the dedication of the new studios of station WBBM, of Chicago, said to be the finest in the Middle West, at 9 o'clock Tuesday night. Ralph L. Atlass, a frequent visitor to Washington, and his brother, H. Leslie Atlass, owners of the station, will be in charge of the ceremonies.

Station WBBM broadcasts with 10,000 watts power on a frequency of 770 kilocycles and comes in on the dial kilocycles and comes in on the dial between WJZ, New York, and WGY. Schenectady. However, inasmuch as the program is to be carried by the entire Columbia System, it doubtless will be heard here locally through station WMAL. It will be the first time that two hours of radio entertainment, originating in Chicago, have been broadcast over any chain system in one night, so the Windy City entertainers may be depended upon to put their best foot forward. Guy Lombardo and his Royal Cahadians are to be featured.

"The new studio of WBBM is located on the lower level floor of the Wrigley Building, on Michigan Boulevard, in Chicago, and is divided into two sections by the building hallway. On the south side of the hall are the executive offices, offices of the sales force, &c. On the north side is the main studio, which is one of the largest in the city and which has been refurnished and redecorated through-out. In addition, there is the artists' reception room, the control room, the organ room, the visitors' reception room, the visitors' lounge, with com-modious seats for nearly a hundred people, and the music and rehearsal rtists broadcasting.

This is the fifth move made by This is the fifth move made by WBBM. The original studio was at Lincoln, Ill. When the station was moved to Chicago e studio was provided in the Broadmore Hotel. Later a studio was built in the offices of the Stewart-Warner Speedometer Corporation, which transmitted programs over the station. Fifteen months ago, or in September, 1927, WBBM moved to Kimball Hall, in the Loop.

During the past year, however, additions to the staff and the programs have made these quarters somewhat cramped and it was felt by the owners of the station that more room was needed. Included in the plans for the coming year are a number of features that have been arranged with the idea of giving greater public service and entertainment.

WBBM, along with WPG, Atlantic City; WBAL, Baltimore, and WHAM, Rochester, N. Y., is one of the best known independent stations in the country. Only recently it was granted a construction permit for 25,000 watts power, and it is understood there are other plans on foot for the station's development.

He put his arm round her, pulling her head over on his shoulder, ran his fingers Every store has its old standbys which never change. There is always a demand for thread, pins and needles. Among the topics in my service bureau for parents there are remedies for mothers who are on pins and needles with reference to nail biting, thumb sucking, sleep walking, child fear, tantrums, children's dreams.

"Namouna," an afternoon dress of dark red crepe de chine. The blouse has a woven pattern in beige and two shades of red, while the skirt trimly combines pleating and a flat panel.

Every season we wonder what Jane Regny can possibly find to do with the sport dress that will have any semblance of novelty—for after all there is a limit to the a skirt, a blouse or sweater, and a jacquette.

And every season Mme. Regny fools us by showing soffething new, despite the fact that the necessary utility of the sports dress makes it impossible to bring about radical change in skirt length, silhouette, sleeves or collar.

Real Economy! Wouldst make a suit—and if so, wouldst choose one of three different types of skirt and one of two different types of jacquettes?

And wouldst make this suit from the same material that made an evening cape? Volia, send your stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for the illustrated leaflet which tells you not only how to make this suit, but several other garments as well—including two other garments as well—including two afternoon gowns, an evening gown, a straight coat—well, just send for your leaflet and see!

These days only a second glance can disclose the fact that a material is not printed but woven. And naturally woven material is rather more elegant charming dresses we saw in the spring collections—absolutely charming with-out being extreme in the slightest.

For Girl's Boudoir.

Another nice lady wants curtain ideas for a young girl's boudoir.

First, last and forever, emphatically not cretonne. Cretonne is suitable only for summer homes, and then only for summer homes.

Don't laugh, but I adore pastel-colored crepe de chine or flat crepe. Of course, it is rather expensive, but think how it launders and how it wears! Yet I would not suggest it if you have a lot of window space to cover. Plain white-starched and ruffled curtains are eleightful for a young girl's boudoir if she will keep them laundered, and if they suit the general atmosphere of the room. Heavy or elaborate drapes are never for a bedroom, of course.

Then I have seen chiffon ones, weighted at the hem ever so lightly with beads, and matched by bedspreads and pillows. Oh, just awfully extravagant—but so lovely!

Journeys Through Space

'he spiral Nebula in Canes "venatlel." Let us see how long it would take us to make a journey to some of the objects in the heavens by airplane. We could not make such a trip in an airplane, because there would be the pull of gravity on the airplane, because it would be too cold after we went a few miles from the earth's surface, and because there is no air for the plane to ride on beyond a certain point. However, let us pretend?

Of knife and ether and of nervous shock.

Which is the strongest in this waiting room?

Which is the wisest in this hall of fear?

Which one has power to check impending doom?

Which one can buy the word he waits to hear?

No! Rich and poor alike this hour must live and wait the news the nurses come to give.

can see are objects known as "spiral nebulae." They are of enormous size and contain balls of fire very much like our sun. To reach one of the spiral nebulae, going at the speed of light, we should need to travel for perhaps 1,000,000 years. At the end of that time, I think, we'd be too old to enjoy ourselves. to enjoy ourselves.

There is no reason why the people should quarrel with them about that. What if the insurance companies do make money by keeping the people alive? Por once the rich and the common people are in full accord, the lion and the lamb lie down together, and peace broods like a benison.

The insurance companies find their heavy losses to be due to heart disease. This group of disorders is now way out in front. Behind trails pneumonis, apoplexy, Bright's disease, disbetes, and consumption. Automobile accidents are still far in the rear, but they are stepping on the gas and they are close enough up to begin to see the dust of the leaders.

The very heavy death rate from heart disease is among men and women who have passed the meridian of life, whereas most of the accepted causes of heart disease operate in childhood and youth. It is not easy to get an investor to pay money for this purpose, called care and prevention, in a venture which does not begin to pay dividends in freedom from heart disease intil, say, 40 years later. The insurance companies find trouble in convincing callow youths of the advantage of buying life insurance policies as a a protection against want in old age, But hard jobs have been done before and this one will be.

Report on Inefficiency in Operation Brings Denial From Authorities.

Charges of ineffiency in the operalon and maintenance of Districtivined automobiles and trucks, by the United States Bureau of Efficiency, in report made public by Representative Sibson, chairman of the House District subcommittee, were reechoed yesterday by District-owned automobiles are improperly used for private purposes, it was charged in the efficiency bureau's report, and District officials agreed that this probably was true.

The District has not adequate garage or storage facilities for its automobiles in the municipal garage, and, although it has asked in the past for appropriations to increase the size of the garage on D street between Thirteenth and Thirteen-and-a-half streets, the Budget Eureau has refused to sanction such an item in the District estimates.

The result of the inability to find official housing for the automobiles has been, it is said, that various executives and employes, responsible for the official use or care of the machines, have been authorized to take these machines to their homes and store them in their private garages.

Letter Sent 26 Years Ago Is Delivered Here

After a trip of 26 years through the mails, a letter posted to E. Burkholder, 641 East Capitol street, from Marrisonburg, Va., on Feb-ruary 23, 1903, reached him yester-day at his present address, 153 V street northwest.

The letter, aithough it showed the effects of its long and, perhaps, strenuous Journey, bore no marks except the Harrisonburg postmark, the receipt mark of the Washington postoffice the next day, and a stamp which declared, "Unknown at that address. Try 153 V street north-west." It seems, Burkholder said last right, that the postoffice de-partment had tried to deliver the letter for more than a quarter of a century without suggess. The let-ter had been written to him by his wife.

"Where the letter has been all this time," Burkholder said, "I don't know any more than you do."

Cooperative Artists Claim Public Has Failed to Support Course.

DEFICIT FOR SEASON HAS REACHED $2,404

Ticket Holders Will Have Adjustment Offered on Unused Coupons.

Lack of support from the public and too ambitious a program for its first season caused the cancellation yester-day of the evening concerts of the Washington Cooperative Artists Con-cert Course, scheduled to be presented at the New Auditorium within the next at the New Auditorium within the next two months.

There will be no concert therefore of the Philadelphia Simfornietta at the New Auditorium Monday night, as previously announced.

Holders of season tickets for the Washington Artists Cooperatice Concert Course were asked in the statement made public yesterday by Dr. Harold M. Dudley, director of the course, to hold their tickets until such time as an adjustment in the matter of the unused coupons can be made.

In the statement Dr. Dudley declared that the total receipts for the aix concerts already given, including the 'esper concerta, the series of which were canceled earlier in the season, were $14.545, while the total expenditures for the concerts totaled $15,949.51, leaving a deficit of $2.404.51.

Baby Girl Mixes Drinks, Taking Gasoline "Shot"

Prances Lloyd, 1½ years old, of 5806 Castle place northeast, gave her family a scare yesterday and had to undergo the ordeal of a stomach pump when she got her drinks mixed and drank a quantity of gasoline.

Dr. W. H. Peacock, of Casualty Hospital, was summoned and ministered to the child at her home. Her condition is not serious. The child is said to have found the fluid, which was kept for cleaning purposes, in a jar in a kitchen cupboard.
